D-CONSTRUCTEUR

PROBLEM STATEMENT:

A true engineer is resourceful, efficient and shrewd. Bigger limitations, tougher situations and a world full of endless possibilities drive them. Can you make it with resources that are limited, time that is running out and ideas that keep on piling?

RULES:

- Registration will be done individually.
- This is a team event; the team will be formed on-spot which will test your management and leadership skills.
- A project will be given to you on the day of event which needs to be completed by your team within the stipulated time.
- All the materials will be provided to you by us.
- You are not allowed to carry any material with yourself (in or out) other than your phone.
- The project made by you needs to be submitted to the coordinators any damage caused to project at the time of submission will not be considered to be given extra time.
